

Call for Presentations

April 20-21, 2009

2009 AMERICAN INDIAN PREVENTION SERVICES CONFERENCE: SACRED AWARENESS

Norman, Oklahoma

This year's theme, "Sacred Awareness", focuses on the question: "How do we raise awareness in ourselves and our communities on those things which make us stronger and more positive?" The conference will bring together the expertise of prevention, public health and wellness professionals to assist in the exploration, development and sustainability of our individual and community strengths. Workshops will cover a broad range of topics to enhance the community-building foundation upon which prevention is built, such as: strategic and community planning; services for returning veterans and their families; problem and compulsive gambling; substance abuse issues; suicide prevention; domestic violence prevention; culturally relevant methods for American Indians; developing Inter-Agency and Inter-Tribal relationships; and youth leadership development.

Submissions due March 31, 2009

Session Title _____

Presenter Name _____

Agency _____

Street Address _____

City/State _____ ZIP Code _____

Telephone _____ Fax _____ E-mail _____

Co-Presenter Name _____ Co-Presenter Name _____

Agency _____ Agency _____

Phone _____ Fax _____ Phone _____ Fax _____

E-mail _____ E-mail _____

Audiovisual Equipment Needed (check all that apply):

- data projector / screen
- DVD or VCR (circle one)
- overhead projector
- flip chart / markers
- other _____
- none

For conference registration information and updates, visit: www.aii.outreach.ou.edu

The conference is hosted by the University of Oklahoma's American Indian Institute. For more information, contact Ann Barnes: (405) 325-4127 or annbarnes@ou.edu

Description of session for use in printed program (limit 75 words):

Please submit form by March 31, 2009 to:

Ann Barnes
annbarnes@ou.edu
(405) 325-7757 fax
(405) 325-4127 phone

All presenters must register for the conference.